PITTSBURGH, May 17.—Pennsylvania's roistering, name-calling primary campaign reached the showdown stage at the polls today with all the embittered factions claiming victory and none quite certain which way the dice may fall.

Both parties nominate candidates for senator, governor, congress and lower state offices, and there has been so much heat and bitterness, so much trading and conniving that the leaders themselves are somewhat in the dark, however vociferous their claims.

Over Four Million Are Eligible To Take Part In Day's State Primary

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—With interest in the outcome at fever pitch, Pennsylvania's 4,250,000 registered voters were expected to stage a record-breaking turnout today as a climax to the spectacular 1938 primary election.

Fair and warm weather drew early crowds to polling places throughout Eastern Pennsylvania, as well as in the central and western sections.

Although normally less than 55 per cent of the qualified voters exercise their franchise at primaries, the interest created by this year's heated feuds was expected to draw at least 75 per cent of the electorate to the polls.

4,000,000 Can Vote

Registration lists show 2,016,736 Democrats and 2,140,499 Republicans eligible to cast ballots in the state. Of the total, approximately 900,000 are Philadelphians; 401,444 Democrats and 484,998 Republicans.

Twenty-six candidates in both parties are seeking the nominations for United States senator, governor, lieutenant governor, and secretary.

BIGGEST VOTE IN SOUTH SIDE

Number Of Election Day
Problems Are Before
Court This Morning

Ballots replaced words today when New Castle and Lawrence county voters marched to the polls to express their choice for the state nominees of the Republican and Democratic parties. At noon the march was almost a single file for the voters were coming in slowly with the exception of a few precincts in the south side of the city.

On the North Hill and the East Side the voters were apparently waiting until late this afternoon to have their say. Due to a bitter inter-party fight not only for candidates for state offices but for county committee places the Democratic vote in the Fifth and Eighth wards was about twice as heavy as the Republican vote.

Many At Polls

Around the polls today it looked like old times. Workers, spectators and candidates mingled in crowds around the polls, but there was no disorder.

Judge W. Walter Brahm opened court at 7 o'clock today and was on the bench most of the morning handling election disputes and a number of desertion and non-support cases. Judge Dickey was to take over later in the day and be in court until 10 o'clock tonight.

One of the first questions raised before Judge Brahm today was that of a voter who had moved to another residence inside the precinct. His ruling on the question so far as is known is that he never been handed down the same way before.

Judge Brahm ruled that a voter who had moved to another residence in the same precinct was entitled to vote. Commenting upon paragraph B, section 27, P. L. 868, the election code of 1937 he said, "mere failure to register a change of address in the precinct does not disqualify the voter. The law is not sufficiently specific in the matter and our presumption is that the voter can vote. The law says that if he removes to another district he must notify the registration commission."

GOOD WEATHER

Weather as contrastingly clear as the day's political outlook was muddled greeted Pennsylvania's early primary voters today.

Azure skies with warm, bright sunlight prevailed generally throughout the state as the polls opened at 7 a. m. EST.

The weatherman could only predict, but he indicated the day's 13 hours of voting—until 8 p. m. EST—would continue without discouragement from the clouds.

Battles In Progress

ENTIRE LOWER HOUSE ELECTED THIS YEAR

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 17.—Hundreds of legislative and congressional nomination battles were being settled in primary balloting today, their local importance dwarfed by the more crucial gubernatorial nomination contest.

Despite filing fees imposed under the state's new election code, heavy lists of candidates remained in the field for the various legislative nominations. They included scores of familiar names from both major parties, old-timers trying for a comeback, along with incumbents seeking retention or promotion.

The state house of representatives provided the longest entry list, 864 candidates seeking nominations to the lower branch of the General Assembly, where the entire membership of 208 seats will be filled in November. Virtually all the state's 34 congressmen were seeking renomination and election with 173 candidates in the primary field for the 25 state senate seats up this year—one half the total—34 candidates sought nominations.

Selecting Jury For Labor Feud Kentucky Trial

(International News Service)

LONDON, Ky., May 17.—Six farmers and two small town business men today make up the nucleus of a jury that will place the blame for the bloody labor feud in Harlan county's rich coal fields.

Cutting swiftly into the special panel of talesmen, Federal Judge H. Church Ford sped the jury's selection, and it was believed the box would be filled by tonight.

Although neither the government nor defense counsel had exercised any of their challenges so far, the judge promptly shifted out residents of Harlan county and the remainder were regarded as generally acceptable.

The number of defendants, accused or criminally violating the Wagner Labor Relations Act, were increased to sixty-seven today with the arrest of Hugh Taylor, 24, a one-time deputy sheriff.

Free Speech For His Side

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 17.—Charging that President Roosevelt is "in favor of free speech for his side of the case only," Alfred M. Landon today bitterly assailed Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana for introducing a congressional measure "which is a dire threat to the press."

In a double-barreled attack on the president, in which he accused Mr. Roosevelt of endorsing a "violation of the spirit of the bill of rights" by not interfering with the activities of Mayor Frank Hague in Jersey City, the former Republican presidential candidate declared:

"I cannot believe that congress will even take the Minton bill seriously. The dangerous thing about the measure is that it reflects an attitude now prevalent. Apparently it reflects the New Deal attitude toward the press of the country, and I'm afraid it may reflect the president's attitude. The president's views have, no doubt, encouraged Senator Minton and others."

Landon made his defense of the "freedom of the press" in an address before the Inland Publishers association.

At the same time, hundreds of men, including 300 enrollees of a C. C. C. camp located near Mint Canyon, where the plane was last seen shortly after it took off at 1:41 p. m. yesterday, began combing the hills and canyons in search of the plane.

In some sectors, it was claimed, the Japanese legions were only seven miles from the city.

CALVARY PASTOR IS OUT OF PRESBYTERY

an adjourned meeting of Shenango Presbytery on May 31 at 2 p. m., in the Central church.

Members of the body voted on each motion and then at the close of the proceedings as a whole. The Ayes were unanimous on every motion except that of the dissolution of the pastorate, and on that motion there were two or three Nays.

Other Action Of Presbytery
Other action taken by presbytery concerned two recommendations made by the committee on national missions, both of which were approved. These were: first, that a grant of aid be given to the Ellwood City Maytag church, to the amount of $10 per month for a period of six months effective as of April 1; second, that aid to Calvary church be terminated as of April 1, (1938).

Dr. S. A. Kirkbridge, as moderator, presided throughout the afternoon session. Several matters were taken up before that of Calvary. Presbytery was constituted with prayer by Rev. T. C. Henderson of Moravia.

After roll call, the clerk, Rev. J. Greer Bingham, reported for the committee on vacancy and supplies. The committee's suggestion that David I. Shaffer of Donegal Presbytery be named stated supply for Princeton and Mt. Hermon churches beginning June 12, and if mutually agreeable, he be continued in that status for the following six months, was approved. A certificate of disqualification was given to Licentiate Seth C. Morrow of Wampum. Rev. E. A. Shoemaker of Westfield then read the recommendations of the national missions committee referred to above.

Rev. Fredericks Heard
It was at this juncture that the moderator asked Rev. Raymond J. Fredericks "to show cause why pastorate relations should not be dissolved."

The Calvary minister took the floor and addressing the moderator said that it is his desire that his name be erased from the roll of the Shenango Presbytery.
"I do not wish to be longer affiliated with the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.," he declared.
"The reasons for my withdrawal from the church are set forth in a rather lengthy statement, parts of which follow:

"The only reason to be connected with any denomination is that the brethren might be strengthened in their faith in Jesus Christ as Saviour by fellowship and communion, this being called 'communion of the saints.'"
"If a denomination gets out of accord with the things of Christ and becomes an organization of men, for men and by men, then a Christian should no longer be affiliated with that organization."

"Over 1300 Presbyterian ministers signed the Auburn Affirmation denying the five great essentials of Presbyterian faith. Since then many have earnestly protested and have urged the church to take some action against those men who signed the iniquitous doctrine. The church has not only refused to take such action, but has appointed the signers to membership in every agency of the church and has even elevated them to the permanent judicial commission, the highest court in the church, so that there is no longer any possibility that these heretics will be punished."

"On the other hand, those who have protested on behalf of the purity of the church have been subject to all manner of persecutions and prosecutions so much so that nearly 30 ordained ministers and laymen have been removed from the church on trial and over 5000 members have withdrawn from the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. and a number of independent churches have been established out of this membership, many of which are very substantial organizations."

"The basis of the charges against these men and women which have resulted in ecclesiastical trials was the resolution adopted by the General Assembly in May 1934. This demanded that ministers and members of the Presbyterian church must either obey any action taken by the General Assembly or get out of the church. This is contrary to the constitution of the Presbyterian church which does not grant any such power to the General Assembly. Nevertheless, the action has been upheld by the Permanent Judicial Commission, four of the members of which are admittedly heretics because they signed the Auburn Affirmation.

"The particular charges which were made against the men who have been suspended from the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. were based on the fact that they were members of the Independent Board for Presbyterian Foreign Missions, which supports missions in various foreign countries. It is admitted that these missionaries are all true to the Word of God, and are faithful teachers. On the Boards are one or two members of the Presbyterian church in U. S. A., but the majority are members of other denominations than the Presbyterian, or are affiliated with no denomination at all."

"It is admitted that these brethren hold true to the Gospel doctrine in all their teaching, the sole charge being that they are not obedient to every whim of the General Assembly, whether constitutional or not. The specific act being that they would not resign from the Independent Board. They have been regarded as rebels, as trouble-makers, and have been subjected to public trial because they must obey God rather than man."

"The action of the officers in the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. against Drs. Harold S. Laird of Wilmington, Del.; Merle T. McPherson of Philadelphia; Carl McIntire of Collingswood, N. J.; Roy Brumbaugh of Tacoma, Wash.; and many others, is a plain indication that the Presbyterian Church in U. S. A. has abandoned its own constitution and the teaching of the Holy Scripture."

"In order to enforce its will, many congregations have been forced out of the churches for which they have paid, and they have been obliged to occupy other buildings."

"Inasmuch as the fight from within the church for its purity has been fought and lost, for any true believer to remain in the fellowship of a church which has definitely and officially apostatized, is an act of disobedience to the plain command, 'Come ye out from among them, and be ye separate and touch not the unclean thing.'"

"I would appreciate your action in erasing my name from the rolls and henceforth no longer consider myself a member of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. I regret exceedingly and more than I can express, the necessity of making this request of men with whom I have had close spiritual relationship for years past, but in order to preserve my testimony for Jesus Christ as my Saviour and Lord, I am led to do so."

Leaves After Reading Address
Rev. Fredericks withdrew from the assembly at the conclusion of his address.
After his departure the moderator brought the matter of dissolution of the pastorate before the presbytery members for action. Dr. W. L. Wishart of Sharon seconded Rev. Bingham's motion that the pastorate be immediately dissolved.

Rev. J. Greer Bingham of Pulaski raised objections, saying that more effort should be made to induce Rev. Fredericks and the Calvary members who are leaving the church to reconsider.
"Bring these people back," he declared. "This isn't theology, this is animosity started out there in Philadelphia. I think we should send some level-headed men to go out and talk to young Fredericks. This identical thing has happened in the Early Church. Let's not blast away, let's not be spasmodic. We must deliberate."

The moderator and Rev. D. C. Schnebly, temporary clerk, both assured the speaker that the committee of presbytery had deliberated, but that Calvary church had already made its decision and that four efforts to bring the congregation to a more reasonable frame of mind were to no avail.

The Reading Circle Closes Season With Anniversary Tea

Commemorating not only the fact that it was the closing meeting of the year for The Reading Circle, but also that it will be fifty years in August, since the organization was formed, the lovely tea given in the suburban home of their gracious president, Mrs. W. E. Ferver, on the New Wilmington road, Monday afternoon, was one of the leading social functions of the season of the membership.

The group, which was well represented by four special guests, Mrs. Richard Rentz, Mrs. B. K. Thacker, Miss Norma Nixon, and Mrs. Boughlton, enjoyed the informal afternoon planned for their pleasure, by Mrs. Ferver.

Festivities were launched with a short business period, when a short resume of the past calendar year was given. Immediately following, Mrs. Burr M. Rogers and Mrs. W. D. Stitzinger, program chairmen, conducted an exciting "Question Bee" that provoked much amusement.

The time then ensued, climaxed the occasion, when the group upon being invited into the spacious dining room, found themselves amidst an exquisite setting of flowers.

They were attracted especially by the beautifully decorated table, where refreshments were served. The center, graced by an unusual and most striking container brought here by Mrs. Fred L. Rentz from Florida recently, was filled with yellow and purple iris and other flowers, carrying out the Reading circle colors. Intermingled in this arrangement, were rare gold poppies, which were placed there expressly to commemorate the golden jubilee of the Reading circle, inasmuch as sessions will be dispensed with, during the anniversary month, August.

The setting was further enhanced by a sterling silver tea service, and pouring was Mrs. E. R. McGeorge. She had as aides, the social committee, which composed Miss Edith Moore, Mrs. C. M. Bannon and Mrs. Fred Lee.

This brought to a close, a most successful as well as an exceedingly enjoyable calendar of events for the Reading circle members. They will discontinue meetings until October, when regular sessions will again be resumed, the date and place of the first, to be announced.

The rooms throughout the Ferver home, were colorfully decorated with numerous bouquets of the season's flowers.

MARTHA SHRINE PLANS BUSINESS AND SOCIAL

Martha Shrine will hold a bingo party following their regular meeting, Thursday night of this week, in the East Lodge room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

The usual meeting will begin at 8 o'clock, and the social, in charge of Mrs. Lina Gray, chairman, will claim attention afterwards. Tables will be set up, and at the close, prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

MOTHERS HONORED

BY B. P. W. GROUP

Eighty-five members and guests of the B. P. W. club met for dinner at the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening in honor of mothers. This is an annual affair, and is always lovely, but last evening it seemed even nicer than in former years.

The tables presented a beautiful sight, with the early summer flowers and clever doll favors made by George Washington Junior high school pupils taught by Miss Helena Burckart.

Old fashioned songs were sung, with Miss Olive Webb as leader, and Miss Theodora Pollock as accompanist. Two numbers were sung by the club's own choir.

Miss Mary VanDyke, president, opened the program in charge of the music and education committee, which the Misses Helen Hinkson and Jessie Jenkins are chairmen respectively.

Miss Hinkson then introduced as guest speaker Prof. Wallace Biggs, of Westminster College, whose lecture describing a thousand-mile bicycle trip through England and Scotland has interested so many local audiences in the past few months. The lecture was illustrated with moving pictures taken by Prof. Biggs during his trip last summer.

At the close of the lecture a question period was conducted and the women asked a number of things about "the real Mexico" where the Westminster man has also travelled extensively.

TWENTY YEARS OF AIR MAIL

THE United States is observing this week the twentieth anniversary of one of the most important developments in the history of communication—the beginning of air mail.

Twenty years ago the first mail was carried between New York and Washington, a distance of 218 miles. In the year following, 713,240 letters were carried by planes. The advance of air mail is indicated by the fact that during the fiscal year ended last June 30, between 150 and 200 million pieces of mail were transported by planes.

The nation's experience with the air mail has been a hectic one. From 1918 to 1927, the government operated the letter-carrying planes, turning the service over to private airlines at the end of that period. For five years this private service continued, only to be halted by repercussions following the investigation of air mail contracts by a senate committee headed by Hugo L. Black. The government's experience in resuming operation of the service was disastrous, and in a short time private lines, after being reorganized, took over the service. Since then progress has been steady and comparatively free of criticism.

The air mail has been an important part of the communications system which, including telephone, telegraph and radio, has brought the people of the nation closer together by virtually erasing distance. No longer must weeks intervene between correspondence of friends or relatives on opposite sides of the country. No longer must important business transactions be delayed days or weeks by the arrival of a contract or other important documents. The weeks which once were required for communication have been reduced to a day or two.

The progress made by the air mail has paralleled the advance of transportation. The work of the pioneers in aviation and allied fields has borne fruit with the establishment of aviation and air mail as definite American institutions.

NEW CONQUEST OF FOG

Aviation continues its fight against fog, with improvement in blind flying equipment and landing systems at airports.

The installation of such a landing system, nearing completion at one of the big airports, consists of a runway on which pilots unable to see the ground will be able to land by following a special "curved" radio beam. The 2,500 foot runway connects with the hard-surface landing mat, giving pilots a total of 4,500 feet straight-away landing space.

There will still be weather conditions so bad that planes will be grounded temporarily. But the devices which make flying and landing entirely by instruments a safe and sure practice will enable planes coming from a region of good weather to land at their destination in spite of local fog or other cause of zero visibility.

Commercial air service grows more safe as well as more swift and comfortable.

OLD ORDER REVERSED

In other days, when Summer boiled and the city became a fiery furnace, city people swarmed out to the country to get cool. They could sit in the shade of the trees, and if the wind blew, they would be fairly comfortable. Now it is the other way about. People go to the city to be cooled. We are long accustomed to going indoors for warmth in winter. But to step from the blazing heat of the streets into an air-cooled room is such a new experience it still smacks of the marvelous.

Formerly railroad cars in Summer were like frying pans. Now we ride in air-conditioned trains. In the city the great hotels are cooled, theatres supply the temperature of an October day, many shops are like oases in a desert of heat. On the street the thermometer may be in the insufferable nineties, but inside the charming and delightful seventies offer refuge.

The Europeans, when we Americans invented central heating, at first condemned it, and then took it up. Now that we have central cooling very likely they will follow suit. They have adopted our refrigerators. They built skyscrapers, and air conditioning is such a great thing they soon will be following our lead in that.

THE STRAWBERRY SEASON

In a sense, the strawberry season is a thing of the past, which is unfortunate. In other days there was no more delightful form of mental relaxation during the long Winter months than a contemplation of the infinite delights attendant upon the season—the strawberry festival, with its pleasant social contacts, the strawberry jam, the strawberries and cream and, above all else, the strawberry shortcake, with the berries bursting with sweetness and the juice oozing out over the biscuit.

But now, unhappily, the edge of anticipation has been dulled. Through the progress of science, the marvels of swift transportation and the infinite climatic resources of this great land of ours, we have strawberries all the year round and the season is no longer anticipated with emotions of delight. There are, however, strawberries and strawberries. Shipments have been coming from Florida all Winter. Along Maryland's Eastern Shore the fields are reddening. Virginia picking is in full swing. The Louisiana and Alabama seasons are about over. North Carolina continues picking but the harvest will have been gathered within ten days.

But all of these berries, appealing pieces of fruit in their way, are but the prelude to the real thing. Until the local berries appear in the markets, the season, as we know it in this favored corner of the country, will not have arrived.

AID CONTROL OF TEMPER

Often in this column I have suggested ways and means of dealing with small children when he has a temper tantrum. I have rarely considered the older child or adult who expresses a desire to control a bad temper.

As you know, I have for several months been leading demonstration public forums on family problems and citizenship, at various places in the United States. In addition to the regular evening forum, I usually conduct off-schedule forums once or several times a day, frequently with large groups of children and students from the fifth grade through college.

From every one of these levels and most often from fifth or sixth grade children has come this question: "How may I control my temper?" Perhaps the younger person says "How can I keep from getting awfully mad when somebody bothers me?"

First of all, I warmly commend the questioner for wanting to correct this fault, reminding him that he will lose friends when he loses his temper, and will do and say things he will be ashamed of afterwards. I then try to show him that he can do most between now and the next time he is likely to be very angry. I suggest that while calm and sensible he often say to himself, "Next time I feel I am getting angry I will remember to tell myself that I must not say anything but must keep my mouth shut. I must keep my hands and feet still. I must manage myself well. If I get excited and do or say silly things others will make fun of me and I will lose my rights. If I am not sure I can control myself, I will go away where no one can see or hear me. I will never throw things when I am angry or call any one ugly names."

After your anger cools down, the next time you are vexed, think over how well you did. If you managed yourself just a little better than ever before, be proud of yourself and make up your mind to do better next time. But don't be too hard on yourself after you have lost your temper a little. The important thing is to improve. Then just keep struggling in this fashion, working on yourself while you are not angry so you might be able to control yourself next time you are vexed. This principle should work with anybody. The first step toward improvement is to want to improve.

"GOOD NEIGHBOR!"

From Mexico comes the gracious assurance that it intends to compensate the British and American oil companies whose properties it expropriated on March 13 with payments on account, of twenty per cent of gross receipts from sales abroad of the excess crude product, it has taken by the gun-at-the-head technique.

Everybody is supposed to be satisfied—except the oil companies, and naturally, they do not count. All they did for Mexico was to expropriate the oil fields, find the capital, drill the wells, erect the derricks, refine and sell or ship what they got by reason of their investment.

Having the plants in good running condition, Mexico says in all simplicity to the oil companies, hand over, let us appraise and, if there is any surplus from our operation, you can have one-fifth of the foreign proceeds. The oil companies never did have any other interest in Mexico politics than being left to continue to produce oil at a profit. However, they enriched Mexico, gave thousands of Mexicans a living they never could have earned for themselves, and are rewarded in the end by a promise to pay damages for an outrage in the fashion that a pin-broker pays for a car which he has bought on the installment plan, for the privilege of impressing his name.

And speaking of expropriation, how about the confiscation of wealth in these United States under the guise of Income Taxes?

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:10. Sun rises tomorrow 4:43.

The good gardener always goes hand and hand with a sprinkling can.

There is one good thing about the candidates elected this year there won't be much prosperity to wreck. Those who have charge of street lighting in New Castle should take a walk on Blaine street between Wallace and Lincoln avenue some night. It is the darkest place in New Castle and the sidewalks are narrow and bad. Hundreds of people travel that street every night.

Congress is better at juggling than balancing.

Confidence men and thieves seem to have the best way in getting money. All a confidence man has to do is to talk to some one who has money in the bank and talk him into taking it out and giving it to him. This happens every day somewhere.

It's the fellows who earn their bread by sweating brow that set their watches by the factory whistle.

Freedom of the air seems to be about the only thing that is free now. One even hates to ask for water at a filling station if he does not buy anything. That seems some water isn't free in some places any more.

It is reported that a welfare relief committee is planning to have the park benches upholstered.

It's because we weren't satisfied with the celluloid collar days that we had to worry about the price of bonds.

COULDN'T CORRECT IT

The lecturer had just finished "sowing the seed in hell." Before presenting the next exhibit, he said: "Folks, every time I finish that act I hear a lot of stupid, silly remarks. But tonight I heard the dumbest one ever. Some gentleman—I don't know who it was—said: 'Aw, you can't fool me. I'm no sucker. That was a trick.' Well, folks, if you came in here expecting to see a lady saved in half with no tricks, you are a sucker."

TEN MILLION SICK PEOPLE
If correct, which does not seem possible, the American Medical Association Journal has published the amazing statement that one out of every fourteen persons in the United States entered hospitals last year as bed patients.

Translating this into population figures approximately 10,000,000 Americans were sick enough last year to get the most expert medical attention thousands of cities and communities could render. This is evidence that our people are not taking care of themselves. They have not learned the first principles of health and hygiene. They are either eating too little nourishing food or gorging themselves. They are not getting sufficient rest or exercise.

Vaunted civilization must be a healthy one.

These are good times to go into the business of manufacturing headache tablets—so many people have it.

When business is regulated by the government it is handicapped. Those in business know more about running it than most any congressman does—or a president either for that matter. Of course the owner of a business cannot handle other people's money when he wants to spend a billion or two.

CORRECTING children is a necessary hardship which parents must endure now and then. But it should be done as delicately as possible so as not to defeat its own end. One of the most unendurable violations of good taste is the parent who humiliates a child by drawing attention to its faults before strangers. No matter how serious the fault may be, the punishment should be meted out or the reprimand given in the privacy of the home rather than in a public place or before guests.

Relief Is Problem In Ohio
State Worries Over Crisis
Writer Tells Why Of ProblemBy LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist
The tragic relief situation in the large cities of Ohio is explained today by David A. Vormeik, of Cleveland, who is thoroughly acquainted with the situation—this column is his today.—Leslie Eichel.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—Headlines the country over attest to the fact that relief has reached a dangerous point in Ohio. Illinois, too, is having a problem, and other states are in the picture.

What is the problem? And, more important, what is the solution? In Ohio this has occurred: When the federal government ceased handing direct relief, a law of limited duration provided for a state relief administration operating through the counties. Several successive laws were then enacted.

Relief, of course, is supported by taxation. When the last of these laws providing for a state relief organization expired in April, 1937, Gov. Martin L. Davey invoked the state poor law, which definitely makes local governments responsible for the care of the needy.

This was done because no enthusiasm has been demonstrated in the state legislature, which is influenced greatly by rural sections, to tax themselves and thus help support the municipalities. This, plus the desire of Gov. Davey (an anti-New Deal Democrat) to retain support of rural voters, and his friction with Cleveland's mayor, Harold H. Burton (a progressive Republican) helped to make political football of relief in Ohio.

The legislature's unwillingness to pass anything except stop-gap legislation for relief purposes has thus produced crisis after crisis in the various industrial centers. The legislators as well as the governor have refused to do any long range planning to cope with the problem.

LAND TAX RESTRICTED

In addition the cities of Ohio are restricted in their taxing power. Taxes on real estate are limited by state law and if a community desires to increase such taxation the plan must be submitted to voters at a special election or nearest regular election. Industrial centers in Ohio are now seeking to correct this taxing limitation (obtained some years ago by large real interests) in order to remove the present relief problems, in view of the lack of co-operation on the part of the state legislature and the governor.

Sixthly, the legislators of Ohio and the governor must remember that people on relief are really human beings and need food, even as you and I.

Brazil Revolt Threats
Cause Worry To U. S.Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Getulio Vargas of Brazil had an attempted revolution on his hands sooner than even our state department's Latin American experts had anticipated.

The government at Rio de Janeiro squelched the uprising. Nevertheless it appears to have been a formidable affair. It is described as having been of Fascist inspiration.

Italian residents of the republic probably had a good bit to do with it, but it is not implied that overseas Italy was responsible for the outbreak. And employees of a German bank have been arrested.

The Washington administration regards such manifestations in the southern New World with considerable apprehension.

POSSIBLE COMPLICATIONS

An "anti" versus a "pro" Fascist or Nazi struggle in this hemisphere, if at all prolonged, in itself would be a serious worry to Uncle Sam.

Besides, the tendency would be for the Integralists (as Latin Americans call Fascists and Nazis) to call themselves to attack the republics from Italy and Germany and maybe from some of the "bunds" in the United States. On the opposite hand it is quite likely that many Yankee soldiers of fortune would be tempted to lend a hand on the other side.

All sorts of complications might be involved.

VARGAS
Well, if Vargas has licked the insurgents effectively, perhaps all's O. K. for the present.

Vargas, by the way, as a dictator, is not much of a democrat, but he certainly isn't an Integralist. Moreover, he is pro-North American.

"BIG" NAVY
Stories from Rio suggest that the navy was conspicuously identified with the anti-Vargas movement.

Brazil has a fairly sizable navy. It is not strictly up to date, but it classes next to Uncle Sam's, between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and is stronger than the navies of any but the major European and Asiatic powers.

Back in the days of Presidents Harding and Coolidge, when we were preparing international disarmament, we had a naval "mission" at Rio, teaching the Brazilians how to improve their fighting fleet. These "missionaries" did a tolerably good job. For instance, they equipped Brazil with the first Dreadnaught after Britain's.

It is semi-obsolete now, of course—and yet a ponderable influence in Latin American waters.

GOOD BUSINESS?
To be sure, the Brazilian navy turned to the U. S.

It provided a lot of work for building program did do one good

Following the demise of state relief, in many communities it was held lawful for a county to administer relief. But in the county most affected Cuyahoga (Cleveland), with 1,300,000 persons, the county commissioners declared themselves legally powerless to administer relief. Thus Cleveland found itself with 75,000 on direct relief and some sort of aid necessary for 300,000.

WHAT IS THE SOLUTION?
First, the taxing powers of centers such as Cleveland must be altered to permit them to levy taxes for such emergencies.

Secondly, the state legislature must make provision to help out communities burdened with large relief rolls. The depression and recession have created such a situation in Cleveland and other cities.

Thirdly, the planning must be done with a view to producing some long-range program which will effectively obliterate the possibility of relief crises arising every month or two.

Fourthly, it is known how much money will be required for relief for at least a year in advance. Reasonably accurate figures point to Cleveland's requirement amounting to nearly $300,000 a week. Definite plans should be made to make funds available, enabling the relief staff to work with their former equanimity. Tribute should certainly be paid to them for their efficiency, especially under the present disquieting conditions.

At the moment Cleveland has no relief staff officially, for they have all been fired as of April 30, 1938.

Fifthly, the planning should be done with a view to enlarging the opportunities of the relief staff for family welfare. The calmness of Cleveland's relief clients in view of their exigencies and the present emergency is indicative of the type of people on relief rolls and demonstrates the thoroughness of the social workers in Cleveland.

Sixthly, the legislators of Ohio and the governor must remember that people on relief are really human beings and need food, even as you and I.

NEXT
Thus ends Mr. Vormeik's summary. Tomorrow we may present an idea from a national point of view.

Prominent citizen: One who kept a lot of worthless property till others built a town around it.

North American armament constructors.

That is why we sent that naval mission to Rio. Our argument was that Britain would get that business if we did not grab it.

Parenthetically, I am not positive that our naval constructors ever were paid for their work. I do know that Brazil has defaulted on millions of its national obligations—possibly the price of its warships also.

Anyway, paid for or not, Brazil got the warships.

NEVER IN HARMONY
For some reason or other the Brazilian navy never has harmonized with the Brazilian mainland government.

Every time there has been a governmental clash at Rio the war fleet has lain out in the harbor threatening to bombard the city. Naturally the city has overthrown its landward government to escape being bombarded.

It would not work in the United States.

THEY FIGHT FOR RIO
The folks out in the sticks would not surrender even to save Manhattan from bombardment.

But Brazil is different. Manhattan, perhaps, is 5 per cent of the United States. Rio is, in effect, 95 per cent of Brazil.

If President Vargas has held his own it is significant.

I would like another column to elucidate it.

I don't like a dictatorship, but if you have got to have one, of one kind or another, perhaps there is a choice between them.

Reinstatement Of Men
In Unsuccessful Strike
May Not Be Ordered

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 17.—A supreme court statement that employers can keep strikers out of the job and refuse reinstatement to strikers after an unsuccessful strike—so long as no union discrimination is involved—aroused deep interest in both labor and employer circles today.

The pronouncement of the court was made in its decision upholding the National Labor Relations Board in the Mackay Radio case in ordering reinstatement of men active in an unsuccessful strike.

While the court upheld the board's order for reinstatement of five workers, it did so on the ground that they were discriminated against because of union activity.

But the court ruled, the company could have refused reinstatement on other grounds and kept within the

Wagner Labor Act.

Reinstatement of workers with back pay is regarded by the labor board and labor as a keystone of the enforcement machinery of the Wagner Act. Close examination of the decision was being made by labor lawyers to determine whether the decision uncovers a loophole in the law.

ALL FACTIONS IN PRIMARY MAKE VICTORY CLAIMS

posed that Gov. George H. Earle be nominated for the senate, and that Lieut. Gov. Tom Kennedy, the CIO candidate be nominated for governor. This would be a compromise, but it fell on deaf ears so far as Earle and the state organization were concerned. Earle has the backing of the committee and of the American Federation of Labor. Kennedy is supported by Senator Joe Guffy, until now the undisputed leader of Keystone democracy, and of John L. Lewis and his CIO.

The effect of Farley's proposal would be to cast into outer darkness Charles A. Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer, who is running for governor on the Earle-organization slate, and Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, who seeks the senatorial nomination on the Guffy-Kennedy-Lewis-CIO slate.

"Resent" Farley's Interference

The organization, which is to say Earle and the state committee, "resented" Farley's interference. Never, said Governor Earle, would he desert his allies. The governor could hardly say otherwise, as he burned his bridges behind him days ago when he publicly excommunicated John L. Lewis, although Lewis and his United Mine workers supported him four years ago and helped make him the first Democratic governor Pennsylvania has had in nearly half a century.

The noisy clamor and name-calling of the Democratic squabble almost eclipsed the Republican contest between those old opponents in Pennsylvania Republican politics—Gifford Pinchot and the "Old Guard" leadership in Philadelphia. Pinchot, at 72, is seeking his third term as governor, opposed by Judge Arthur H. James, candidate of the old line party leaders. Pinchot has an informal alliance with Senator James (Puddler Jim) Davis, who is seeking renomination, and who is opposed by G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman and like James, the candidate of the Grundy, the Fews and the other old-liners.

There can be no question but that the national Democratic leadership is perturbed, and deeply so over the prospect of losing Pennsylvania in November due to the Democratic family quarrel. They won Pennsylvania only four years ago after nearly fifty years of wandering in the wilderness, and they are anxious to retain it with 1940 looming ahead. The party in power in Pennsylvania in presidential years controls the election machinery, which is no unimportant factor.

Democrats Fearful

The national Democratic leadership is fearful that the Earle-Kennedy ticket be defeated for the gubernatorial nomination today and Pinchot get the Republican nomination—as seems likely—then John L. Lewis and his CIO cohorts may elect to go along with Pinchot in November. Pinchot and Lewis have been allies in by-gone years in Pennsylvania politics, and might well be again. It was Lewis and his mine workers who nominated Pinchot eight years ago, when he started west from Philadelphia nearly 200,000 in the minus column against Francis Shunk Brown. Old friends are Mr. Lewis and Mr. Pinchot.

Political opinion was sharply divided today as to the effect that Farley's last-minute intervention will have; also as to the motives back of it. Had Farley made his statement a week, so that it could have percolated thoroughly throughout the 67 counties, there is general agreement that it would have had a very considerable effect. There are a great many federal office holders in Pennsylvania who look upon Farley and Senator Guffy as the dispensers of all good things. There are more than 200,000 WPA workers alone, to say nothing of the postmasters, collectors of internal revenue and others who look to Washington for their sustenance. The prevailing opinion is that if Farley really desired to help Kennedy, then his timing was wrong—the statement should have been made a week ago, not on the eve of the balloting.

The betting here in Pittsburgh is that Jones will win over Kennedy, but there was not a great deal of conviction about it.

The consensus was that Earle would win rather easily over Mayor Wilson, who has no particular strength outside Philadelphia, and that either Jones or Kennedy could take the third gubernatorial candidate, ex-attorney general Charles J. Margiotti, who was summarily ousted by Governor Earle, after he had made grave charges of graft and corruption in high places in the Earle administration. Margiotti charged, among other things, that prominent members of the Earle administration, including State Chairman David L. Lawrence, had "sold" legislation for cash.

The race between Pinchot and James for the Republican nomination for governor is considered by Pennsylvania experts to be relatively close. The Philadelphia organization is expected to turn in a whopping vote for the judge, but Pinchot's strength lies in the rural and industrial regions where he has won his victories before. However, since the advent of the New Deal, many of the ex-governor's supporters have become New Dealers, attracted by the social aspects and objectives of the New Deal.

Numerically, from the registration lists, there is little to choose between the two parties. The registration in both parties is slightly in excess of 2,000,000. But registration means little in Pennsylvania politics. In 1934, the Republicans had a registration of 2,524,336, against a Democratic registration of 1,401,005—a difference of some 1,200,000. Yet the Democrats that year elected Earle, and gave Pennsylvania the first Democratic administration in 44 years. Pre-election figures are unimportant in Pennsylvania, for strange things can—and do—happen politically.

Brown Reports On Tag Day Fund

Exchange Club President Announces $142.36 Is Raised By Effort

New Castle's first annual milk fund tag day, held Saturday, May 14 netted $142.36, according to H. Gill Brown, president of the New Castle Exchange club which sponsored the event.

"Considering the inclement weather which prevailed throughout the day, the occasion was a marked success," Mr. Brown said. Brown, together with General Chairman Dr. Nathan N. Ginsburg and members of the Exchange club, thank all those who responded in making tag day a successful event. The club particularly thanks the more than 200 youngsters, members of the Gray-Y clubs of the Y. M. C. A., who sold tags. Leading the various teams was the Oak street school group. Thaddeus Stevens was second. The two groups will be presented with pennants in the near future. Claire Boerly, a student at George Washington junior high school collected the most money, while Theola Newhard, a pupil in the Oak street school was second.

During the organization's weekly dinner meeting Monday evening in the Elks Club, North Mill street, President Brown and J. Kenneth Atkinson were appointed as delegates to the state convention to be held in Pittsburgh June 17 and 18. The group meets again Monday night, May 23, in the Elks Club.

mission but it is not clear that he cannot vote if he has removed merely within the same precinct.

Other Questions

A number of other questions were raised, one a woman who had moved and in notifying the commission of her removal wanted to change her registration. The registration was not changed by the court held that she could ask for a Democratic ballot, the party to which she had wanted to change.

Another question raised was that of the right of illiterates or those needing assistance. Previously those needing assistance filed a certificate which is attached to their registration cards. Judge Braham ruled that those who had no such certificate could not be given assistance.

A number of court house officials will have to be on duty all night tonight because of the return of election board figures. Chief clerk to the county commissioners William A. Eakin, will be on duty all night to receive returns as will Thomas C. Edmunds, chief clerk of the registration commission. County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland will be on duty to pay the boards and County Controller Frank W. Hill will be on the job to approve vouchers.

ACHING JOINTS SOOTHED FOR MRS. KRIDLER

Enthusiastically Praises World's Tonic As Great

Constipation Led To Many Other Ills

A woman doing hard nerve-racking work says her work is a real joy in comparison without stabbing pains shooting through her person at every turn. She is Mrs. William Kridler of 714 Fifth Ave., New Kensington, Pa. "At times my muscles and joints were so painful I had to lay off from work. This was calamity for me with children to support. Constipation had my stomach weak and upset and eating always left gassy, sour tastes and acid risings in my mouth. There'd be dizziness, too and spots floated before my eyes but worst of all, were those stabbing pains and aching joints. At one time my doctor said I had lumbago symptoms.

"I began taking World's Tonic daily and my joints were first to improve, and so quickly. Thus day by day I had less cause to complain and gradually the aches in my joints were soothed and it is no longer torture to stoop or bend over. I miss that ugly taste of de-caying food in my mouth as well as the gas and bloating which I understand could cause palpitation and short breath. Although my work always tired me, now it feels like a healthy tired feeling because I can sleep long and sound. I think World's Tonic is great and honestly believe all women in my place should know about it."

World's Tonic is justly famous and contains no habit forming drugs or narcotics. It is intended to assist nature and you need not buy extra pills or tablets for results. Get World's Tonic at Eckerd's, Paisleys, and all other up-to-date Drug Stores.

"What Constitutes a Good Rotary Program" was the subject of the interesting panel discussion which New Castle Rotarians participated in during their weekly luncheon at The Castleton yesterday. Attorney William J. Caldwell, member of the club, presided.

Farmers Able To Insure Wheat Crop

New Farm Act Enables Farmers To Protect Against Loss Of Various Kinds

Lawrence county wheat growers, as well as growers in every other county in the country may now assure themselves of from one-half to three-fourths of their average crop every year. This will be made available through the all-risk insurance feature of the new Farm Act.

It is explained that the wheat crop harvested in 1939 is the first to which crop insurance will apply. The insurance protects against all natural hazards such as drought, flood, hail, wind, winterkill, lightning, tornado, insects and plant disease.

The cost of insurance will vary with the loss experience of the farmer and the amount of his coverage. Premiums will be paid in wheat or its cash equivalent. It is expected that most of the premiums will be paid in the form of warehouse receipts. The premiums will be used only for the payment of losses, as the government will pay operating and administrative expenses.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement. If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the greatest intestinal tonic, vitamin B₃. Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey rose early today. So did Court Crier Clifford Vance. At 7 o'clock they were in court and with the yawning seats of the court room their only audience, proceeded to open court.

Under the new election law court must open on election day at 7 o'clock in the morning and does not close until 10 o'clock at night.

The reason is that the courts must be available to all persons while the polls are open and for two hours after the polls close. In the old days arguments arose over procedure in an election polling place and it would be hours before the court could be reached. Justice in high gear is the slogan these days.

Chief Clerk Will Eakin and Registration Chief Clerk Thomas C. Edmunds are also in for overtime. They have to be on the job until the precinct officials report their votes which means anywhere from 4 to 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. They get no sympathy from this corner for we've been doing it for years here on The News.

A decision has just come down from the superior court which may be interesting to the boys who are hauled in for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The decision was issued following an appeal in a case wherein the defendant said he was not drunk. The superior court says you don't have to be drunk to be within the meaning of the act. Any person who has drunk enough to have any effect whatever is guilty. Even though there is no evidence of drunkenness the person can still be considered as being under the influence, which seems to answer the question when is a man drunk?

The first appeal from a decision of the liquor control board to be taken in Lawrence county was handed up Monday when the Russian-American club appealed from the revocation decision of the board. Their license was recently revoked and they now ask that the courts hear the testimony and restore the license. Judge Dickey has set May 31 as the day of hearing.

Two opinions were handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham on Monday. In the first one the petition of Adolph and Helen L. Lebowitz vs. Elizabeth J. Krauth is referred to the law side of the court and will be tried by a jury. The case is one in which the plaintiffs claim they have the right to use a passageway between the two homes in Ellwood City. In the bill of complaint they asked for an injunction to prevent further interference with

Far-Reaching Tax Case Won By Government

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The government won a far-reaching tax case when the supreme court upheld a 50 per cent penalty tax against the National Grocery Co. on the ground that it withheld dividends to avoid taxes. The decision was 5 to 2.

The high court's decision forged a new weapon in the hands of the Bureau of Internal Revenue in forcing corporations to adopt liberal dividend policies to avoid penalty levies.

from a Dauphin county court decision lowering the price of milk to dealers in Western Pennsylvania. The high court advanced the date for appeals of two dairy companies at the request of Attorney General Guy K. Bard, who said the decisions have resulted in "chaotic and unsettled" milk prices.

The lower court's rulings permit the Keystone Dairy Co. of Pittsburgh to pay 12 cents a hundredweight less than the prices ordered by the state milk control commission and the Colterayn Sanitary Co. to pay lower prices in the Western area of the state. Charging the decisions "are costing dairy farmers $25,000 a month in the Pittsburgh market alone," Bard said that "milk dealers in other markets are beginning to violate price orders because of the disparity in the Pittsburgh market."

Aerial Might Of Uncle Sam Seen In Eastern U. S.

Awe-Inspiring Mass Flight Is Seen In New York City Area

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., May 17.—Mobility and power of America's aerial might, tested to the satisfaction of army strategists and tacticians during the past week, were demonstrated publicly to the metropolitan area today in an awe-inspiring mass flight.

Awarded the honors of victory against invading fleets of two hostile powers in simulated warfare, culminated by a triumphal encirclement with anti-aircraft artillery, the G. H. Q. forces—144 fast traveling, quick-shooting planes—thundered down the Hudson river valley from West Point, over the towers of Manhattan and across Long Island's Gold Coast in a line six miles long. The planes, drawn from air bases throughout New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland, made rendezvous before the sky parade at West Point. There they wheeled and dipped into parade formation before streaking out for the dash southward to reinforce headquarters here where Major General Frank M. Andrews, commander of the air force, and a host of civilian and army notables reviewed the gigantic demonstration.

Work Is Pushed On Route 422 As Fine Weather Prevails In District

Parkstown Corners has now been reached by workmen who are rebuilding and widening Route 422 between Section Lane and the New Castle Airport. Due to the excellent weather prevailing in the district since the concrete pouring started on May 3, the work has been pushed.

Workmen from the New Castle Duntile company are now engaged in pouring concrete on the strip between Parkstown Corners and the airport.

Other workmen on the job are engaged in preparing the curve in the road at Parkstown for concrete. This curve, dangerous up until this time, is being reconstructed and will not in the future be nearly as sharp.

According to officials of the Duntile company this road should be opened for traffic by July 4, at the latest, providing weather remains favorable.

Indians Take Second Place, Giants Beaten

Cleveland Goes Into Second Place By Topping Macks, Phils Wallop Giants

BOSTON RED SOX LEAGUE LEADERS

By ANTHONY J. FUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 17.—On the eve of termination of the 1938 season's first month today, the major league campaigns are the direct antithesis of pennant races of recent years.

Traditionally, the National League is the scene of a vigorous battle among the four or five top clubs, which seldom allow more than a couple of games to separate them at any time during the season. On the other hand, the American League, in recent years, has been featured by walk-aways by the pennant-winning club, which fact has lessened interest in it.

Giants Walloped

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox are holding the fort in the American League, but the warm breath of the Cleveland Indians, Yankees and Washington Senators is right at the back of their necks, since only two games separate the four first division clubs of the Junior Loop.

Today the Giants play host to the Chicago Cubs, after dropping a 12 to 3 decision in Philadelphia to the Phillies.

Terminating a western trip in which they played 677 baseball, the Giants left victim to home runs by Gene Corbett, Herschel Martin, Pinky Whitney and Chuck Klein, as Bucky Walters won his third game for the Phils.

The Phillies touched Hal Schumacher, Bill Lohmeyer and Hy Vandenberg for 15 safeties while Walters held the Giants to eight, including Jimmy Riddle's homer.

In the only other scheduled National League game, the Boston Bees, behind Danny MacFayden, pounded out 10 hits off Freddie Fitzsimmons, Forrest Pressnell and Buck Marrow, to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 4.

Indians Win Game

The American League went in for its daily shuffle with Cleveland climbing up into second place by beating the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3 in 10 innings on Geoffrey Heath's double. Willis Hudlin, who replaced Johnny Allen in the 10th was credited with the win, while Luther Thomas was declared loser. Thus the Indians replaced the idle Yankees in second spot.

Meanwhile, the Senators continued their downward slide by losing their fourth straight game, this time to the Detroit Tigers, 13 to 7.

Church League Games Tonight

There will be two games in the New Castle Church softball league tonight, with both games starting at 6 o'clock. The First U. P. will meet the Third U. P. at McGill Field, and the First Baptists will oppose the First Presbyterians at Walton Field.

Umpires Will Meet Wednesday

Leo W. Hill Of Lawrence County Umpires' Association Gets Authorization

Leo W. Hill, president of the Lawrence County Umpires' Association has called an important meeting of all of the members of the association for the "Y" Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Hill is in receipt of a letter from Stephen J. Cox, National Amateur Baseball Federation Commissioner for Pennsylvania to the effect that the Lawrence County Association is the only recognized association handling games in this city and county. Mr. Cox says that the body of men under the guidance of Mr. Hill are affiliated with the National Amateur Federation.

Three Lawrence Tilts Wednesday

Baseball Games At Hillsville, Wampum And Cedar Street Fields

Lawrence County Baseball league teams swing into action for their second game of the season on three different fields at 5:45 p. m. Wednesday. At present Hillsville, South Side Merchants and South Hills are tied for first place, but it would not be surprising were the complexion of the standing changed by the time darkness mantles the baseball fields Wednesday.

Here is the schedule for Wednesday:

South Hills vs. Hillsville at Hillsville.
Capitolas vs. Wampum at Wampum.
Bessemers vs. South Side Merchants, Cedar Street grounds.

So far Mike Cortes holds the distinction of having pitched the first no-hit game in the circuit. He turned the trick for the South Siders against the Capitolas Friday on the George Washington Junior high school field.

There is no question but that the upset of Bessemer by Hillsville has caused the Bessemer team some anguish because Bessemer, winner of the pennant last year, had their hearts set on capturing the opening game.

Wampum is said to have mounded together one of the strongest outfields in the circuit, but had trouble beating South Hills. South Side Merchants hope to make a strong bid for the flag as their win over Capitolas showed.

According to reports from the managers in the games played on Wednesday and Friday, the umpires assigned by Leo Hill, head of the Lawrence County Umpires' association, performed nicely.

POSTPONE GAME

Announcement was made today that the game between the Fannins and the Wabash Bees which was scheduled for Wednesday evening has been postponed until a later date.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Plenty of "umps" . . . this season, New Castle is blessed with an abundance of umpires. In fact, two associations have been organized. The City League officials number 18 and include: . . . Charles Scagione, Frank Rozzi, Dom Costello, president, Tippy Richards, Frankie Ross, Clem General, Keith VanFossan, Cackey Gennock, Dutch Ross, Nickie Gennock, Joe Diana, Texie Richards, James Mash, A. Prissaro, Vincent A. Audino, Buddy Marino, Harley Brooks and Talo Amodeo. . . Lawrence County league "umps" . . . Red Keller, Mike DiThomas, Leo Hill, president, Adams, Ben Price, Bishop, Dunn, Bert Price, McIntyre and Bodenfer. . . as far as the officiating end of baseball is concerned, New Castle is all set.

From the ridiculous to the sublime . . . Johnny Dawson gave the fans a little variety in a Denver invitational tournament. . . he was simply wild on the third hole, hitting two parked autos and breaking a window . . . on the fourth hole, he used it with a perfect 160-yard shot.

JAMES AND JONES WIN

GOV. EARLE IS EASY WINNER OVER WILSON

SEN. DAVIS LEADS OWLETT IN SENATE RACE

ORGANIZATION SLATE OF DEMOCRATS WINS; PINCHOT LOSES OUT

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—Democratic organization candidates triumphed over the CIO backed slate on the basis of unofficial returns early today from more than one third of the state's voting precincts.

Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh attorney, was leading Gov. Thomas Kennedy, backed by the CIO and blessed by National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley 292,123 to 224,018.

Gov. George H. Earle, who also had Farley's approval for the Democratic U. S. senatorial nomination over-whelmed Mayor S. Davis Wilson, of Philadelphia, who was on the CIO slate 304,197 to 112,720.

James Easy Winner

Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James, backed by the Old Guard, trounced former Governor Gifford Pinchot for the Republican nomination 528,135 to 248,863 for the 12-year-old handle-bar mustached warrior.

U. S. Senator James J. Davis apparently won the GOP bid for renomination 274,412 to 226,708 for his younger opponent, State Senator H. Mason Owlett, of Wellsboro, GOP leader in the state legislature.

Trailing behind all was former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, the Democratic administration's "bad boy," who got 71,619 in a futile race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Vote In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The Republican vote of Philadelphia gave Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James a sound endorsement in his battle for the gubernatorial nomination.

With all but three of the city's 1,300 precincts reported, James had compiled a better than five to one majority in Philadelphia. The returns from the primary for the GOP nomination for governor:

James 284,777; Pinchot 51,980. For the Republican nomination for U. S. senator:

Owlett 172,531; Davis 110,910. For the Democratic nomination for governor:

Jones 138,918; Kennedy 75,932; Margiotti 44,786. For the Democratic nomination for senator:

Earle 168,433; Wilson 58,359.

Kennedy Defeat Conceded
HARRISBURG, May 18.—The Kennedy campaign headquarters early today practically conceded defeat of his candidate and the victory of Charles Alvin Jones, Democratic organization candidate for governor.

Edward N. Jones, Kennedy campaign manager, said he hoped to cut Jones' present lead of approximately 70,000 to 40,000.

Any official statement must come from Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy at his home in Hazleton, he stated. "He has all the figures before him," he said.

Name Organizer For La Follette's New U. S. Party

(International News Service)
MADISON, Wis., May 17.—A soldier took over the job today of mobilizing Gov. Philip M. La Follette's new National Progressive party for an attack on the polls this fall.

Adj. Gen. Ralph M. Imnell, commander of the state militia under four governors, was appointed executive director and organizer of the party by Gov. La Follette.

He announced an immediate campaign to get the party on an active footing.

"The next decade," he said, "will unfold the story of the eclipse of the two major political parties in the struggle to beat off the unwanted European doctrines of Communism, Fascism and Nazism."

State Motor Police Back From Bradford

Seven members of the local detachment of the State Motor Police have returned from Bradford where they were members of a party which conducted a futile search for Marjorie West, age 4, who disappeared a week ago Sunday while picking violets.

Ivor Davis Wins State Committee

With 81 precincts out of the 100 in Lawrence county in Ivor V. Davis of Wallace avenue seems to have a safe lead for the post of Republican state committeeman in the 81 precincts Davis has 5,793 votes and W. Filmore Campbell of New Wilmington 3,890.

In the Democratic fight for state committee, J. Frank Stevens seems to have won handsily over Benjamin Rocco of Ellwood City.

Pinchot Sends Congratulations

Concedes Defeat And Sends Message To James Early Today

THANKS PEOPLE FOR SUPPORT

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Former Governor Gifford Pinchot early today conceded defeat to his battle for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The 72-year-old Pike county campaigner made his announcement over radio station WFIL, Philadelphia, shortly after midnight when returns from virtually every precinct of the state showed him trailing his rival, Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James.

In his statement the two-time governor of Pennsylvania congratulated his opponent and said he was returning to his home at Millford to complete the writing of his book on forestry.

"I am not downhearted over the defeat," said Pinchot in a cheerful voice. "I express my thanks to the people who supported me."

"It was a good clean fight, and I do not regret it."

In a telegram sent to Judge James, Pinchot said:

"I congratulate you on your victory."

Many times during his campaign Pinchot pledged himself to support the Republican nominees, and in his statement this morning he said he has no intention of "going back on his promise."

James Replies
Philadelphia, May 18.—After receiving a congratulatory telegram from Gifford Pinchot, his apparently defeated rival for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination, Judge Arthur H. James immediately dispatched a wire to his opponent. It read:

"I deeply appreciate your telegram. When I enter the ring against the New Deal this fall, we are counting on you in our corner."

Landon Assails Senator Minton

Also Charges President Favors Free Speech For His Side Of Case Only

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 17.—Charging that President Roosevelt is "in favor of free speech for his side of the case only," Alfred M. Landon today bitterly assailed Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana for introducing a congressional measure "which is a dire threat to the press."

In a double-barreled attack on the president, in which he accused Mr. Roosevelt of endorsing a "violation of the spirit of the bill of rights" by not interfering with the activities of Mayor Frank Hague in Jersey City, the former Republican presidential candidate declared:

"I cannot believe that congress will even take the Minton bill seriously. The dangerous thing about the measure is that it reflects an attitude now prevalent. Apparently it reflects the New Deal attitude toward the press of the country, and I'm afraid it may reflect the president's attitude. The president's views have, no doubt, encouraged Senator Minton and others."

Landon made his defense of the "freedom of the press" in an address before the Inland Publishers association.

Fear Death Toll Of Atlanta Fire May Far Exceed 26 Known Victims

(International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga., May 17.—As work crews dug ceaselessly through the flame-battered wreckage of the Terminal hotel here, Fire Chief O. J. Parker predicted the toll from Atlanta's most disastrous fire would climb far above the known death toll of 26.

There are many of the 65 in the hotel at the time of the fire still unaccounted for," Chief Parker asserted. "I dread it, but I know we will find them."

Authorities received reports that 14 men, who were engaged in a poker game on the third floor of the hotel when the fire broke out, slid to safety down a rope that dangled from a painters scaffold, but Chief Parker, after investigating, said:

"I don't believe the story. If they had escaped someone would have seen them."

Henry Jackson, Negro chef at the restaurant on the first floor of the hotel, today informed authorities that it was an overheated ventilator fan that caused the fire and not a boiler explosion, as at first believed.

(International News Service)
LONDON, Ky., May 17.—Six farmers and two smalltown business men today make up the nucleus of a jury that will place the blame for the bloody labor feud in Harlan county's rich coal fields.

Cutting swiftly into the special panel of talesmen, Federal Judge H. Church Ford sped the jury's selection and it was believed the box would be filled by tonight.

Although neither the government nor defense counsel had exercised any of their challenges so far, the judge promptly sifted out residents of Harlan county and the remainder were regarded as generally acceptable.

The number of defendants, accused or criminally violating the Wagner Labor Relations Act, were increased to sixty-seven today with the arrest of Hugh Taylor, 24, a one-time deputy sheriff.

Japanese Reports Of Victories In Suchow Area Denied By Chinese

JAPS ANNOUNCE CHINESE RETREAT

TOKYO, May 17.—Japanese forces this morning were drawn up along an average radius of 30 miles around Suchow, important Chinese railway junction, according to reports received here late today.

In some sectors, it was claimed, the Japanese legions were only seven miles from the city.

The Japanese said the Chinese "continued successfully to reduce important towns in other sectors of the Suchow front."

Two of the main Japanese columns, it was asserted, were six and nine miles away from Suchow. It was stated the Chinese were in "full retreat."

See Mighty Battle

Shanghai, May 17.—Indications that a mighty battle may be fought for possession of Suchow, vital railway junction, are being seen today in a defiant official announcement from Hankow denying Japanese claims of victories in the Suchow area.

Chinese authorities at Hankow stated their troops are still in control of Suchow and have no intention of withdrawing.

They also asserted, in direct contradiction of Japanese statements, that the Suchow railway "is still free of Japanese."

an adjourned meeting of Shenango Presbytery on May 31 at 2 p. m. in the Central church.

Members of the body voted on each motion and then at the close adopted the procedure as a whole.

The body was unanimous on every motion except that of the dissolution of the pastorate, and on that motion there were two or three No's.

Other Action Of Presbytery

Other action taken by presbytery concerned two recommendations made by the committee on national missions, both of which were approved.

These were: first, that a grant of aid be given to the Ellwood City Mission church to the amount of $10 per month for a period of six months effective as of April 1; second, that aid to Calvary church be terminated as of April 1, 1938.

Dr. S. A. Kirkbride, as moderator, presided throughout the afternoon session. Several matters were taken up before that of Calvary, Presbytery was constituted with prayer by Rev. T. C. Henderson of Marietta.

After roll call the clerk, Rev. J. Greer Bingham, reported for the committee on vacancy and supplies. The committee's suggestion that David I. Shaffer of Donegal Presbytery be named supply for Princeton and Mt. Hermon churches beginning June 12, and if mutually agreeable, be continued in that status for the following six months, was approved. A certificate of dismission to the Presbytery of Carlisle was given Licentiate Seth C. Morrow of Wampum. Rev. E. A. Shoemaker of Westfield then read the recommendations of the national missions committee referred to above.

Rev. Fredericks Heard

It was at this juncture that the moderator asked Rev. Raymond J. Fredericks "to show cause why pastoral relations should not be dissolved."

The Calvary minister took the floor and addressing the moderator said that it is his belief that his name be erased from the roll of the Shenango Presbytery.

"I do not wish to be longer affiliated with the Presbytery of Shenango," he declared.

His reasons for doing so, he said, were: "I have been in the ministry for 12 years, and I have been subjected to public trial because they must obey God rather than man."

"The action of the officials in the Presbytery Church U. S. A. against Dr. Harold S. Laid of Wilmington, Del., and Mr. T. C. Henderson of Philadelphia, Carl McIntire of Hollingsworth, N. J.; Roy Brumbaugh of Tacoma, Wash.; and many others, is a plain indication that the Presbytery Church U. S. A. has abandoned its own constitution and the teaching of the Holy Scriptures."

"In order to enforce its will, many congregations have been forced out of the church for failing to pay, and they have been obliged to occupy other buildings."

"Inasmuch as the fight from within the church for its purity has been fought and lost, for any true believer to remain in the fellowship of a church which has definitely and officially apostatized, is an act of disobedience to the plain command, 'Come out from among them and be ye separate and touch not the unclean thing.'"

"I would appreciate your action in erasing my name from the rolls and henceforth no longer consider myself a member of the Presbytery Church U. S. A. I express the necessity of making this request of men with whom I have had close spiritual relationship for years past, but in order to preserve my testimony for Jesus Christ, as my Saviour and Lord, I am led to do so."

Leaves After Reading Address

Rev. Fredericks withdrew from the assembly at the conclusion of his address.

After his departure the moderator brought the matter of dissolution of the pastorate before the presbytery.

The body was unanimous in approving the motion that the pastorate be immediately dissolved.

Rev. Luther Macdonald of Pultney raised objections, saying that more effort should be made to induce Rev. Fredericks and the Calvary members who are leaving the church to reconsider.

"Bring these people back," he declared. "This isn't theology, this is animosity started out there in Philadelphia. I think we should send some level-headed men to go out and talk to young Fredericks. This identical thing has happened in the Early Church. Let's not blast away. Let's not be spasmodic. We must deliberate."

The moderator and Rev. D. C. Schnebly, temporary clerk, both assured the speaker that the committee of presbytery had deliberated, but that Calvary church had already made its decision and that "our efforts to bring the congregation to a more reasonable frame of mind were to no avail."

"Our only recourse is action laid down for us in church government," the temporary clerk explained.

"I think the charges against the church highly exaggerated and misrepresented," Rev. Schnebly added, speaking of the meeting he attended at Calvary church in behalf of presbytery. "While there are faults in our church and all churches, it is only by working together, and not against each other, that we can advance the Kingdom of Our Lord."

The motion of dissolution of Rev. Fredericks' pastoral relations, and the other motions listed, were then approved without further discussion.

The Reading Circle Closes Season With Anniversary Tea

Commemorating not only the fact that it was the closing meeting of the year for the Reading Circle, but also that it will be fifty years in August since the organization was formed, the lovely tea given in the suburb home of their gracious president, Mrs. W. E. Ferver on the New Wilmington road, Monday afternoon, was one of the leading social functions of the season of the membership.

The group, which was well represented by four special guests, Mrs. Richard Kentz, Mrs. B. K. Thacker, Miss Norma Nixon, and Mrs. Boughton, enjoyed the informal afternoon planned for their pleasure, by Mrs. Ferver.

Festivities were launched with a short business period, when a short resume of the past calendar year was given. Immediately following, Mrs. Burr M. Rogers and Mrs. W. D. Stitzinger, program chairman, conducted an exciting "Question Bee" that provoked much amusement.

The time then ensued, climaxed the occasion, when the group upon being invited into the spacious dining room, found themselves amidst an exquisite setting of flowers. They were attracted especially by the beautifully decorated table, where refreshments were served. The center, graced by an unusual and most striking container brought here by Mrs. Fred L. Rents from Florida recently, was filled with yellow and purple iris and other flowers, carrying out the Reading Circle colors. Intermingled in this arrangement were rare gold poppies, which were placed there expressly to commemorate the golden jubilee of the Reading Circle, inasmuch as sessions will be dispensed with, during the anniversary month, August.

The setting was further enhanced by a sterling silver tea service, and pouring was Mrs. R. R. McGeorge. She had as aides, the social committee, which composed Miss Edith Moore, Mrs. C. M. Bannan and Mrs. Fred Lee.

This brought to a close, a most successful as well as an exceedingly enjoyable calendar of events for the Reading Circle members. They will discontinue meetings until October, when regular sessions will again be resumed, the date and place of the first, to be announced. The rooms throughout the Ferver home, were colorfully decorated with numerous bouquets of the season's flowers.

MARTHA SHRINE PLANS BUSINESS AND SOCIAL

Martha Shrine will hold a bingo party following their regular meeting, Thursday night of this week, in the East Lodge room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

The usual meeting will begin at 8 o'clock, and the social, in charge of Mrs. Lina Gray, chairman, will claim attention afterwards. Tables will be set up, and at the close, prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

MOTHERS HONORED BY B. P. W. GROUP

Eighty-five members and guests of the B. P. W. club met for dinner at the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening in honor of mothers. This is an annual affair, and is always lovely, but last evening it seemed even nicer than in former years.

The tables presented a beautiful sight, with the early summer flowers and clever doll favors made by George Washington Junior high school pupils taught by Miss Helena Burckart.

Old fashioned songs were sung with Miss Olive Webb as leader, and Miss Theodora Pollock as accompanist. Two numbers were sung by the club's own choir.

Miss Mary VanDyort, president, opened the program in charge of the music and education committees, of which the Misses Helen Hinkson and Jessie Jenkins are chairmen respectively.

Miss Hinkson then introduced as guest speaker Prof. Wallace Biggs, of Westminster College, whose lecture describing a thousand-mile bicycle trip through England and Scotland has interested so many local audiences in the past few months. The lecture was illustrated with moving pictures taken by Prof. Biggs during his trip last summer. At the close of the lecture a question period was conducted and the women asked a number of things about "the real Mexico" where the Westminster man has also travelled extensively.

The Parent
Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

AID CONTROL OF TEMPER
Often in this column I have suggested ways and means of dealing with small children when he has a temper tantrum. I have rarely considered the older child or adult who expresses a desire to control a bad temper.

As you know, I have for several months been leading demonstration public forums on family problems and citizenship at various places in the United States. In addition to the regular evening forum, I usually conduct off-schedule forums once or several times a day, frequently with large groups of children and students from the fifth grade through college.

From every one of these levels and most often from fifth or sixth grade children has come this question: "How can I control my temper?" Perhaps the younger person says: "How can I keep from getting awfully mad when somebody bothers me?"

First of all, I warmly commend the questioner for wanting to correct this fault, reminding him that he will lose friends when he loses his temper, and will do and say things he will be ashamed of afterwards. I then try to show him that he can be most between now and the next time he is likely to be very angry. I suggest that while calm and sensible he often say to himself, "Next time I feel I am getting angry I will remember to tell myself that I must not say anything, but must keep my mouth shut. I must keep my hands and feet still. I must manage myself well. If I get excited and do or say silly things others will make fun of me and I will lose my rights. If I am not sure I can control myself, I will go away where no one can see or hear me. I will never do anything when I am angry or call any one ugly names."

Think What You Did
After your anger cools down, the next time you are vexed, think over how well you did. If you managed yourself just a little better than over before, be proud of yourself and make up your mind to do better next time. But don't be too hard on yourself after you have lost your temper a little. The important thing is to improve. Then just keep struggling in this fashion, working on yourself while you are not angry so you might be able to control yourself next time you are.

This principle should work with anybody. The first step toward improvement is to want to improve.

"GOOD NEIGHBOR"

From Mexico comes the gracious assurance that it intends to compensate the British and American oil companies whose properties were expropriated on March 18 with payments on account of twenty per cent of gross receipts from sales abroad of the excess crude product, it has taken by the gun-at-the-head technique.

Everybody is supposed to be satisfied—except the oil companies, and naturally, they do not count. All they ever did for Mexico was to explore the oil fields, find the capital, drill the wells, erect the derricks, refine and sell or ship what they got by reason of their investment.

Having the plans in good running condition, Mexico says in all simplicity to the oil companies, hand over, at an appraisal, and if there is any surplus from our operation, you can have one-fifth of the foreign profits. The oil companies never did have any other interest in Mexico politics than being left to continue to produce oil at a profit. However, they enriched Mexico, gave thousands of Mexicans a living they never could have earned for themselves, and are rewarded in the end by a promise to pay damages for an outrage in the fashion that a phony hooker pays for a car which he has bought on the installment plan, or the privilege of impressing his name.

And speaking of expropriation, how about the confiscation of wealth in these United States under the guise of Income Taxes?

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:50. Sun rises tomorrow 4:42.

The good gardener always goes hand and hand with a sprinkling can.

There is one good thing about the candidates elected this year: there won't be much prosperity to wreck.

Those who have charge of street lighting in New Castle should take a walk on Blaine Street between Wallace and Lincoln avenues every night. It is the darkest place in New Castle and the sidewalks are narrow and bad. Hundreds of people travel that street every night.

Congress is better at juggling than balancing.

Confidence men and thieves seem to have the best way in getting money. All a confidence man has to do is to talk to some one who has money in the bank and talk him into taking it out and giving it to him. This happens every day somewhere.

It's the fellows who earn their bread by sweating brow that set their watches by the factory whistle.

Freedom of the air seems to be about the only thing that is free. One can't go to ask for water at a filling station if he does not buy anything. That seems some water isn't free in some places any more.

It is reported that a welfare relief committee is planning to have the park benches upholstered.

It's because we weren't satisfied with the celluloid collar days that we had to worry about the price of bonds.

If the fancy diver don't find a red spot on her stomach she knows she is pretty good.

HIS POSITION
Co-ed: What position does your brother play on the team?
Sister: In a sort of crouched and bent position.

Student to roommate: "If I'm studying when you come in, wake me up."

Some homes never have a good laugh any more, and some have kodak pictures made when skirts were really short.

COULDN'T CORRECT IT
The department of taxation received a typical income tax return from a bachelor who listed one dependent son. The examiner returned the blank with a penciled notation: "This must be a mistake. Presumably the blank came back with the added pencil notation: 'You're telling me!'"

The riding academy is not doing much business. Patrons seem to be falling off every day.

HOW ABOUT TROUSERS?
Jim: "I hear you've taken up golf. What do you go around in?"
Mike: "Well, in a sweater usually."

Mary has a compact case. And everywhere she goes. She takes a half an hour to shoot More powder on her nose.

It has just occurred to us that cigarette smoking did not become generally popular until people gave up wearing celluloid collars.

SUCKER
The lecturer had just finished "Sowing the seed in hell." Before presenting the next exhibit, he said: "Folks, every time I finish that act I hear a lot of stupid, silly remarks. But tonight I heard the dumbest one ever. Some gentleman—I don't know who it was—said: 'Aw, you'

Correcting children is a necessary hardship which parents must endure now and then. But it should be done as delicately as possible so as not to defeat its own end. One of the most unpardonable violators of good taste is the parent who humiliates a child by drawing attention to its faults before strangers.

No matter how serious the fault may be, the punishment should be meted out in the remotest given in the privacy of the home rather than in a public place or before guests.

About 4,394 acres of land have been turned over to the Pennsylvania game preserve and another 2,556 acres are being asked for. We hope they don't take over any points or grazing land for the game to stampede over.

A new kind of robbery seems to be meeting with success with the robbers. They jump on the running board of a car or even inside one and make the driver go to a lonely spot and rob them. We have no idea as to what can be done about this but it's serious. Maybe some thing can be done in Washington, such as giving the amount stolen to the victim.

Now some pretentious ladies and snobs are trying to change the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." If some of these birds would learn English they might look on it as all true Americans do.

HAD TO EAT IT
A man walked reluctantly into a hat store.

"I just lost a hat," he said, "and I want to get a set hat."

The salesman, selecting a hat from the counter behind him, handed it to the prospective purchaser with the remark:

"This is the softest hat we have. The customer wanted it at a special price. 'What I want,' he said, 'is something more tender. I've got to eat it!'"

Money doesn't count. A man who has 10 million dollars is really very little better off than one who has $89,999.99.

In aiming to the limit all the nations of the world seem to have forgotten Benjamin Franklin's advice that: "There never was a good war or a bad peace."

POSSIBLE COMPLICATIONS
An "anti-Vargas" or "pro-Fascist" or "Nazi" struggle in this hemisphere, if at all prolonged, in itself would be a serious worry to Uncle Sam.

Besides, the tendency would be for the Interventionists as Latin American Fascists and Nazis to call themselves to attract recruits from Italy and Germany and maybe from some of the "bunds" in the United States. On the opposite hand it is likely that many Yankee soldiers of fortune would be tempted to lend a hand on the other side.

All sorts of complications might be involved.

VARGAS
Well, if Vargas has licked the Insurrectos effectively, perhaps all's o. k. for the present.

Still, the situation is a state department anxiety.

Vargas, by the way, as a dictator, is not much of a democrat, but he certainly isn't an Interventionist. Moreover, he is pro-North American.

"BIG" NAVY
Stories from Rio suggest that the navy was conspicuously identified with the anti-Vargas movement.

Brazil has a fairly sizable navy. It is not strictly up to date, but it classes next to Uncle Sam's and is stronger than the navies of any but the major European and Asiatic powers.

Back in the days of Presidents Harding and Coolidge, when we were purchasing international disarmament, we had a naval "mission" at Rio, teaching the Brazilians how to improve their fighting fleet.

These "missions" did a tolerably good job. For instance, they equipped Brazil with the first Dreadnaught after Britain's.

It is semi-obsolete now, of course—and yet a ponderable influence in Latin American waters.

Relief Is Problem In Ohio
State Worries Over Crisis
Writer Tells Why Of Problem

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

The tragic relief situation in the large cities of Ohio is explained today by David A. Vornmelker, of Cleveland, who is thoroughly acquainted with the situation—thus this column is his today.—Leslie Eichel.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—Headlines the country over attest to the fact that relief has reached a dangerous point in Ohio. Illinois, too, is having a problem, and other states are in the picture.

What is the problem? And, more important, what is the solution?

In Ohio this has occurred: When the federal government ceased handing direct relief, a law of limited duration provided for a state relief administration operating through the counties. Several successive laws were thus enacted.

Relief, of course, is supported by taxation. When the last of these laws providing for a state relief administration expired in April, 1937, Gov. Martin L. Dwyer invoked the state poor law, which definitely makes local governments responsible for the care of the needy.

This was done because no enthusiasm has been demonstrated in the state legislature, which is influenced greatly by rural sections, to tax themselves and thus help support the municipalities. This, plus the desire of Gov. Dwyer to save New Deal Democrats to retain support of rural voters and his faction with Cleveland's mayor, Harold H. Burton, a progressive Republican, helped to make a political football of relief in Ohio.

The legislature's unwillingness to pass anything except stop-gap legislation for relief purposes has thus produced a crisis after crisis in the various industrial centers. The legislators as well as the governor have refused to do any long range planning to cope with the problem.

LAND TAX RESTRICTED

In addition the cities of Ohio are restricted in their taxing power. Taxes on real estate are limited by state law and it is a community desire to increase such taxation the plan must be submitted to voters at a special election or nearest regular election. Industrial centers in Ohio are now seeking to control this taxation limitation obtained some years ago by large realty interests in order to remove the present relief problems in view of the lack of cooperation on the part of the state legislature and the governor.

WHAT TO DO?

What is the solution?

First, the taxing powers of cities such as Cleveland must be altered to permit them to levy taxes for such emergencies.

Secondly, the state legislature must make provision to help out communities burdened with large relief rolls. The depression and recession have created such a situation in Cleveland and other cities.

Thirdly, the planning must be done with a view to producing some long-range program which will entirely obliterate the possibility of relief crises arising every month or two.

Fourthly, it is known how much money will be required for relief for at least a year in advance. Reasonably accurate figures point to Cleveland's requirement amounting to nearly $300,000 a week. Adequate plans should be made to make funds available, enabling the relief staff to work with their former equanimity. Tribute should certainly be paid to them for their efforts, especially under the present depressing conditions. At the moment Cleveland has no relief staff of officials, for they have all been fired as of April 30, 1937.

Fifthly, the planning should be done with a view to enlarging the opportunities of the relief staff for family welfare. The calamities of various industrial centers, the legislators as well as the governor have refused to do any long range planning to cope with the problem.

Sixthly, the legislators of Ohio and the governor must remember that people on relief are really human beings and need food, even as you and I.

NEXT

This ends Mr. Vornmelker's summary. Tomorrow we may present an idea from a national point of view.

Prominent citizen: One who kept a lot of worthless property till others built a town around it.

Brazil Revolt Threats
Cause Worry To U. S.

Washington Bureau

By CHARLES H. STUART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Getulio Vargas of Brazil had an attempted revolution on his hands sooner than even our state department's Latin American experts had anticipated.

The government at Rio de Janeiro squelched the uprising. Nevertheless it appears to have been a formidable affair. It is described as having been of "Brazilian inspiration." Italian residents of the republic probably had a good bit to do with it, but it is not implied that overseas Italy was responsible for the outbreak. And employees of a German bank have been arrested.

The Washington administration regards such manifestations in the southern New World with considerable apprehension.

POSSIBLE COMPLICATIONS

An "anti-Vargas" or "pro-Fascist" or "Nazi" struggle in this hemisphere, if at all prolonged, in itself would be a serious worry to Uncle Sam.

Besides, the tendency would be for the Interventionists as Latin American Fascists and Nazis to call themselves to attract recruits from Italy and Germany and maybe from some of the "bunds" in the United States. Still, the situation is a state department anxiety.

Vargas, by the way, as a dictator, is not much of a democrat, but he certainly isn't an Interventionist. Moreover, he is pro-North American.

THEY FIGHT FOR RIO

The folks out in the stocks would not surrender even to save Manhattan from bombardment.

Rio, Brazil is different. Manhattan, perhaps, is 5 per cent of the United States. Rio is, in effect, 95 per cent of Brazil.

If President Vargas has held his own it is significant.

I would like another column to elucidate it.

I don't like a dictatorship, but if you have got to have one, of one kind or another, perhaps there is a choice between them.

TWENTY YEARS OF AIR MAIL

THE United States is observing this week the twentieth anniversary of one of the most important developments in the history of communication—the beginning of air mail.

Twenty years ago the first mail was carried between New York and Washington, a distance of 218 miles. In the year following, 713,240 letters were carried by planes. The advance of air mail is indicated by the fact that during the fiscal year ended last June 30, between 150 and 200 million pieces of mail were transported by planes.

The nation's experience with the air mail has been a hectic one. From 1918 to 1927, the government operated the letter-carrying planes, turning the service over to private airlines at the end of that period. For five years this private service continued, only to be halted by repercussions following the investigation of air mail contracts by a senate committee headed by Hugo L. Black. The government's experience in resuming operation of the service was disastrous, and in a short time private lines, after being reorganized, took over the service. Since then progress has been steady and comparatively free of criticism.

The air mail has been an important part of the communications system which, including telephone, telegraph and radio, has brought the people of the nation closer together by virtually erasing distance. No longer must weeks intervene between correspondence of friends or relatives on opposite sides of the country. No longer must important business transactions be delayed days or weeks by the arrival of a contract or other important documents. The weeks which once were required for communication have been reduced to a day or two.

The progress made by the air mail has paralleled the advance of transportation. The work of the pioneers in aviation and allied fields has borne fruit with the establishment of aviation and air mail as definite American institutions.

NEW CONQUEST OF FOG

Aviation continues its fight against fog, with improvement in blind flying equipment and landing systems at airports.

The installation of such a landing system, nearing completion at one of the big airports, consists of a runway on which pilots unable to see the ground will be able to land by following a special "curved" radio beam. The 2,500 foot runway connects with the hard-surface landing mat, giving pilots a total of 4,500 feet straight-away landing space.

There will still be weather conditions so bad that planes will be grounded temporarily. But the devices which make flying and landing entirely by instruments a safe and sure practice will enable planes coming from a region of good weather to land at their destination in spite of local fog or other cause of zero visibility.

Commercial air service grows more safe as well as more swift and comfortable.

Reinstatement Of Men In Unsuccessful Strike May Not Be Ordered

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 17.—A supreme court statement that employers can keep strikebreakers on the job and refuse reinstatement to strikers after an unsuccessful strike, so long as no union discrimination is involved, aroused deep interest in both labor and employer circles today.

The pronouncement of the court was made in its decision upholding the National Labor Relations Board in the Mackay Radio case in ordering reinstatement of men active in an unsuccessful strike.

While the court upheld the board's order for reinstatement of five workers, it did so on the ground that they were discriminated against because of union activity.

But, the court ruled, the company could have refused reinstatement on other grounds and kept within the Wagner Labor Act.

Reinstatement of workers with back pay is regarded by the labor board and labor as a keystone of the enforcement machinery of the Wagner Act. Close examination of the decision was being made by labor lawyers to determine whether the decision uncovers a loophole in the law.

Filling the presiding officer's chair yesterday was John B. Offutt, vice president of the club.

Farmers Able To Insure Wheat Crop

New Farm Act Enables Farmers To Protect Against Loss Of Various Kinds

Lawrence county wheat growers, as well as growers in every other county in the country may now assure themselves of from one-half to three-fourths of their average crop every year. This will be made available through the all-risk insurance feature of the new Farm Act.

It is explained that the wheat crop harvested in 1939 is the first to which crop insurance will apply. The insurance protects against all natural hazards such as drought, flood, hail, wind, winterkill, lightning, tornado, insects and plant diseases.

The cost of insurance will vary with the loss experience of the farmer and the amount of his coverage. Premiums will be paid in wheat or its cash equivalent. It is expected that most of the premiums will be paid in the form of warehouse receipts. The premiums will be used only for the payment of losses, as the government will pay operating and administrative expenses.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey rose early today. So did Court Clerk Clifford Vance. At 7 o'clock they were in court and with the opening of the court room their only audience, proceeded to open court. Under the new election law court must open on election day at 7 o'clock in the morning and does not close until 10 o'clock at night.

The reason is that the courts must be available to all persons while the polls are open and for two hours after the polls close. In the old days arguments arose over procedure in an election polling place and it would be hours before the court could be reached. Justice in high gear is the slogan these days.

Chief Clerk Will Eakin and Registration Clerk Thomas C. Edmunds are also in for overtime. They have to be on the job until the precinct officials report their votes which means anywhere from 4 to 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. They get no sympathy from this corner for we've been doing it for years here on The News.

A decision has just come down from the superior court which may be interesting to the boys who are hauled in for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The decision was issued following an appeal in a case wherein the defendant said he was not drunk. The superior court says you don't have to be drunk to be within the meaning of the act. Any person who has drunk enough to have any effect whatever is guilty. Even though there is no evidence of drunkenness the person can still be considered as being under the influence, which seems to answer the question when is a man drunk?

Far-Reaching Tax Case Won By Government

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The government won a far-reaching tax case when the supreme court upheld

The high court's decision forged a new weapon in the hands of the Bureau of Internal Revenue in forcing corporations to adopt liberal dividend policies to avoid penalty taxes.

Q. of the United States Army, the Hudson river valley from West Point, over the towers of Manhattan and across Long Island's Gold Coast in a line six miles long. The planes, drawn from air bases throughout New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland, made rendezvous before the sky parade at West Point. There they wheeled and dipped into parade formation before stretching out for the dash southward to airforce headquarters, here where Major General Frank M. Andrews, commander of the air force, and a host of civilian and army notables reviewed the gigantic demonstration.

Indians Take Second Place, Giants Beaten

Cleveland Goes Into Second Place By Topping Macks, Phils Wallop Giants

BOSTON RED SOX LEAGUE LEADERS

By ANTHONY J. FUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 17.—On the eve of termination of the 1938 season's first month today, the major league campaigns are the direct antithesis of pennant races of recent years.

Traditionally, the National league is the scene of a vigorous battle among the four or five top clubs, which seldom allow more than a couple of games to separate them at any time during the season.

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox are holding the fort in the American league, but the warm breath of the Cleveland Indians, Yankees and Washington Senators is felt at the back of their necks, since only two games separate the four first division clubs of the Junior loop.

Today the Giants play host to the Chicago Cubs, after dropping a 12 to 3 decision in Philadelphia to the Phillies.

Terminating a western trip in which they played 667 games, the Giants fell victim to home runs by Gene Corbett, Herschel Martin, Plinky Whitney and Chuck Klein, as Bucky Walters won his third game for the Phils.

The Phillies touched Hal Schumacher, Bill Lohman and Hy Vandenberg for 15 safeties while Walters held the Giants to eight, including Jimmy Riddle's homer.

In the only other scheduled National league game, the Boston Bees, behind Danny MacFadyen, pounded out 10 hits off Freddie Fitzsimmons, Forrest Pressnell and Buck Marrow, to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 4.

Indians Win Game
The American league went in for its daily shuffle with Cleveland climbing up into second place by beating the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3 in 10 innings on Geoffrey Heath's double. Willis Hudlin, who replaced Johnny Allen in the 10th, was credited with the win, while Luther Thomas was declared loser. Thus the Indians replaced the idle Yankees in second spot.

Meanwhile, the Senators continued their downward slide by losing their fourth straight game—this time to the Detroit Tigers, 13 to 7.

Church League Games Tonight

There will be two games in the New Castle Church softball league tonight, with both games starting at 6 o'clock. The First U. P. will meet the Third U. P. at McGill field, and the First Baptists will oppose the First Presbyterians at Walton field.

Umpires Will Meet Wednesday

Leo W. Hill Of Lawrence County Umpires' Association Gets Authorization

Leo W. Hill, president of the Lawrence County Umpires' Association, has called an important meeting of all of the members of the association for the "Y" Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Hill, in receipt of a letter from Stephen J. Cox, National Amateur Baseball Federation Commissioner for Pennsylvania to the effect that the Lawrence County Association is the only recognized association handling games in this city and county, Mr. Cox says that the body of men under the guidance of Mr. Hill are affiliated with the National Amateur Federation.

Three Lawrence Tilts Wednesday

Baseball Games At Hillsville, Wampum And Cedar Street Fields

Lawrence County Baseball league teams swing into action for their second game of the season on three different fields at 5:45 p. m. Wednesday. At present Hillsville, South Side Merchants and South Hills are tied for first place, but it would not be surprising were the complexion of the standings changed by the time darkness mantles the baseball fields Wednesday.

Here is the schedule for Wednesday: South Hills vs. Hillsville at Hillsville; Hillsville vs. Wampum at Wampum; Capitolas vs. Wampum at Wampum; Bessemer vs. South Side Merchants, Cedar Street grounds.

So far Mike Coles holds the distinction of having pitched the first no-hit game in the circuit. He turned the trick for the South Side Merchants against the Capitolas Friday on the George Washington Junior high school field.

There is no question but that the upset of Bessemer by Hillsville has caused the Bessemer team some anguish because Bessemer, winner of the pennant last year, had their hearts set on capturing the opening game.

Wampum is said to have mounded together one of the strongest outfields in the circuit, but had trouble beating South Hills, South Side Merchants hope to make a strong bid for the flag as their win over Capitolas showed.

According to reports from the managers in the games played on Wednesday and Friday, the umpires assigned by Leo Hill, head of the Lawrence County Umpires' association, performed nicely.

POSTPONE GAME

Announcement was made today that the game between the Pannins and the Wapash Bees which was scheduled for Wednesday evening has been postponed until a later date.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Plenty of "lumps" ... this season, New Castle is blessed with a good chance of umpires. In fact, two associations have been organized.

The City league officials number 18 and include: ... Charles Scaglione, Frank Rozzi, Don Costello, president, Tippy Richards, Frankie Ross, Clem General, Keith Vankosian, Gackey Gennock, Dutch Ross, Nickie Gennock, Joe Diana, Texie Richards, James Mash, A. Priscuro, Vincent A. Audino, Buddy Marino, Harry Brooks and Italia Amodeo. ... Lawrence County league umpires: Red Keller, Mike Dithomas, Leo Hill, president, Adams, Ben Price, Bishop, Dunn, Bert Price, McIntyre and Bodenfer. ... as far as the officiating end of baseball is concerned, New Castle is all set.

Mike Petroskey, chucker with Georgetown university, topped his 13th battle in a row recently. Harry Cooper, golf pro, took a cut at a ball with a polo mallet, the pellet traveled close to 275.

From the ridiculous to the sublime ... Johnny Dawson gave the fans a little variety in a Denver invitational tournament ... he was simply wild on the third hole, hitting two parked safes and breaking a window ... on the fourth hole heaced it with a perfect 160-yard shot.

Note: Send in your contributions about matters pertaining to the world of sports to the Rambling Reporter.
